

VOLUME LIII.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, SATURDAY, JANUARY 22, 1910.

DEMOCRATS HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY

MIGHT BE ABLE TO ELECT NEXT SENATOR.

A NEW PROBLEM APPEARS

Milwaukee News Sees Trouble Ahead for the G. O. P. in State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—According to the Milwaukee Daily News the democratic legislative nominations in all of the districts should be closely watched. Owing to the peculiar political conditions in this state at this time there is no question that there is a strong possibility that the next United States senator elected from Wisconsin may be a democrat, and for this reason, if the members of the democratic party in this state really want to see democracy advanced, they should not only see to it that the democratic candidate nominated in the primary election is a progressive democrat but that progressive democrats are nominated in all districts for the legislature. One of the shrewdest watchers of republican politics in this state and one of the most unbiased men in his statements, when it comes to really giving an opinion on political conditions, recently ventured the political prediction that if there were thirty democratic members in the next legislature, and if those legislators stuck together, the next United States senator would be a democrat.

Ground for the Prediction.
The observer made this prediction on the ground that with the present factional fight on in the republican party it was nearly a certainty that enough supporters of either Senator La Follette or the opposition to Senator La Follette would be elected to the next legislature who would be so strong in their factional opinions that they would never vote for the choice of primary if that choice was the opposite republican political faction. Thus it is the belief of the political observer that if Senator La Follette is the republican primary nominee there will be enough opponents of Senator La Follette in the republican members of the legislature to prevent his election on a legislative ballot and that if Senator La Follette should be defeated for the nomination in the primary election the supporters of the primary nominee will be sufficiently strong to prevent the election of any other republican candidate.

In this way the observer believes that if the democrats are a unit in the fight between the republican factions sooner or later the democratic candidate for United States senator will be elected as the only solution of the deadlock.

Not Alone in Opinion.
It can be said that the opinion of the political observer here given is shared by a great many leading republicans. In fact as has already been said, leading opponents of Senator La Follette who are members of the Republican organization have already gone so far as to talk with democratic leaders in this state who they think might be acceptable as United States senator and inform them that they will back a large number of anti-La Follette republicans in the next legislature who will vote for a democratic candidate for the United States senate if it is the right kind of a democrat rather than for Senator La Follette.

What is more, it can be said that these democrats have been acting on the suggestion and there can be no doubt that at this time there is considerable work being done to secure democratic nominees for the legislature in some districts of the state who would support the kind of a democrat which the anti-La Follette republicans consider would make a good United States senator.

Conducting Quiet Canvass.
The democrats who are quietly carrying on a canvass of this kind at this time think they will be able to secure the legislative nominees they desire for the reason that very little attention is likely to be paid to democratic candidates in the primary election and thus the candidates whom they want selected will get the nominations almost by default.

It can be said also that the districts to which these democrats are paying attention are almost all districts in which there is a strong possibility of the democrats carrying the election. It is said the name of the men whom the democratic leaders have been in friendly conversation with the opponents of La Follette will spring as the democratic candidate for the senatorial nomination will be held back until late in the summer and then a hard fight will be made at the last moment to secure his nomination even should there be other candidates in the field. That his nomination would be secured after this play which certain of the democrats consider that almost all the democrats whose opposition is likely to be feared will vote in the republican primaries for Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Would Block the Deal.
At least it can be stated that anti-La Follette leaders who have boasted that Senator La Follette would never be United States senator again have said that these plans have all been considered as practically agreed upon as the form of campaign to secure the nomination and legislative support for a democrat who would take part in the third annual indoor championship meet of the Southern branch of the Amateur Athletic Union. The only thing that was an exceptionally fine one, representing leading schools and associations throughout the South.

The program of events, extending through the afternoon and evening, is as follows: Twenty-five yard dash for novices; twenty-five yard dash for seniors; 400-yard dash; 800-yard run; one-mile run; three-mile run; pole vault; running high jump; standing broad jump; hop, step and jump; twelve-pound shotput; 880-yard relay race for preparatory schools only, and one-mile relay race for clubs.

RECOMMEND CHANGES FOR BANKING LAWS

Special Committee Has Plans for Legislation to Follow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—The following recommendations for legislation are made by the special committee on banking: Prohibiting any bank from loaning any of its money on its own capital stock as collateral security, and that it be prohibited from loaning its money on the capital stock of any other bank as collateral security to an amount exceeding 10 per cent of the capital stock of such other bank. That the president and vice president of a bank shall be members of the board of directors. That the directors shall be residents of Wisconsin and that the majority of them shall be residents of the locality in which the bank is located. These recommendations are aimed at practice of an individual or institution gaining control of a chain of banks.

ANOTHER DELAY IN FREEING PRISONERS

No Employment Found For Stensland and Herring Causes Postponement of Their Freedom.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—Because the papers for the employment of Stensland and Herring, the former Chicago bankers, were not completed, they will not be released from Joliet penitentiary until Monday.

HOOVER TO HANDLE COMING CAMPAIGN

Has Been Engaged by Captain Lewis to Manage His Work.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Racine, Jan. 22.—Wm. F. Hoover, one of the best known newspaper men in Milwaukee, was today named as the campaign manager of Capt. W. M. Lewis, the progressive republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin. Mr. Hoover takes hold of his new duties at once, it is understood, and he is in Racine today in consultation with Capt. Lewis.

Early next week Capt. Lewis will open headquarters in Milwaukee probably at the Plankinton House.

He intends to go into the field at once and with the help of Mr. Hoover will perfect the strongest kind of an organization.

Revolt Against Prices Takes Definite Form in City of Chicago.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Jan. 22.—The revolt against the high prices of food took a tangible form here today when W. T. Appandee, a state senator, announced he would move for a legislative inquiry into the subject at the opening of the session on Tuesday.

NEWS SCHEDULE OF APPROACHING WEEK

Coming Week Promises Much Congressional News—Two Trials and Conventions Make Interesting Reading.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Having received President Taft's complete legislative program, Congress is expected now to accomplish some real work, though no one can foretell at this time just what action will be taken on the President's recommendations. Meanwhile, the tense situation between Speaker Cannon and the anti-Cannonites and further developments in regard to the Ballinger-Taft hot investigation may be expected to furnish some interesting news during the week.

Label Case.
The libel suit brought by the Government against the Press Publishing Company, publishers of the New York World, on account of stories relating to alleged scandals in the purchase of the Panama Canal Company's stock by the United States, is set for trial Monday in the United States Circuit Court at New York.

Another court proceeding that will attract much public attention is the trial of the "bleached flour" case in New Orleans. Involved in this case, which is the first of its kind to come to trial, is the long-standing controversy between the department of Agriculture and the flour millers of the country as to the legality of manufacturing bleached flour.

Milman Murder Case.
A criminal case that has attracted widespread attention is set for trial in Detroit Tuesday, when Dr. George A. Felch is to be tried for the alleged murder of Mabel Milman, whose dismembered body was found in the river near Detroit last summer. The girl, according to the charges made by the police, was the victim of a criminal operation performed by Dr. Felch, who afterward sought to conceal the crime by cutting up the body and sinking it in the river.

Important Meeting.
Numerous questions of interest and importance to the country at large are to be discussed at the annual session of the National Board of Trade, which will begin in Washington Tuesday and continue three days. Financial legislation, ship subsidies, postal savings banks, the tariff, and the conservation of natural resources are among the matters that will receive attention.

Events in Canada.
Among the events of the week in Canada will be the convening of the Ontario legislature, the opening of the ice palace and carnival of winter sports in Montreal, and a meeting in Ottawa of the general committee in charge of the arrangements for the proposed Conservative convention.

EIGHT ARE DEAD IN TRAIN WHICH WENT INTO RIVER

Particulars in the Sudbury Train Disaster Given by Road.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
North Bay, Ont., Jan. 22.—The Canadian-Pacific estimates of the dead in the wreck at Sudbury yesterday when the train went into the Spanish river, is eight, while others place the number at from twenty to fifty. The injured number more than a score. Through the efforts of Conductor Reynolds, who dove under the ice and got on top of the dining car and then tore a hole through the roof, eight passengers were saved. The dead in the wreck were nearly all foreigners. The wreck was caused by one of the trucks of one of the cars falling in striking the bridge.

CALL ORPHAN GIRL GREATEST SOPRANO

Mary La Salle Said By Critics To Be A Second Melba—Will Be Educated in Europe.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 22.—"My heartiest thanks to all the men and women who have been so kind to me. I did not know there were so many nice people in the world," were the parting words of Mary La Salle, who sailed today for Europe to spend a year in study before becoming a grand opera star. If the judgment of competent critics is correct, Miss La Salle is destined to become the world's greatest soprano singer.

Only a short time ago Miss La Salle was virtually without friends or money. The death of her father in Detroit, Neb., had left her an orphan. Her father obtained for her a position as a chorus singer in a musical comedy company. Riccardo Martin, the celebrated tenor, chance to hear her sing and pronounced her voice to be the most wonderful he had ever heard.

The orphan girl was advised to come to New York. She arrived in the city without funds and appealed to the Grand Central Opera House, the director of the young girl sing and agreed with Riccardo Martin that her voice was the most marvelous soprano he had ever heard, even exceeding the natural voice of Mme. Melba. Thereafter the fortunes of the poor orphan girl began to brighten. New Yorkers of wealth and social prominence hastened to give her aid. Several thousand dollars were contributed to send her to Europe, where she is to study for a year under Maestro Lombardi. It is agreed that when her year of preparation is ended Miss La Salle shall return to America to become one of the star sopranos of the Metropolitan company.

PHILADELPHIA HAS GREAT ART EXHIBIT

Pennsylvania Academy Of Fine Arts Opens 105th Annual Show—Notable Paintings Hung.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—The best exhibition of paintings ever made by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts was formally opened today. It is the 105th annual show and besides the large exhibition of canvases there are many notable pieces of statuary. The exhibition is confined to original works of American artists in oil painting and sculpture. Among the awards and prizes to be distributed among the successful exhibitors are the Academy gold medal of honor, the Temple trust fund medal, the Walter Lippincott prize of $300 for the best painting by an American artist, the Mary Smith prize of $100, the Jennie Seaman gold medal for the best landscape and the Carol H. Beck gold medal for the best portrait in oil.

CONCISE NOTES ON DAY'S HAPPENINGS

Motor Boat Display in Boston—Honor Bishop Ward—England Observes Anniversary—Peary Speaks.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Jan. 22.—The third annual motor boat and engine show, held under the auspices of the New England Engine and Boat association, opened in Mechanics Building today and will run through the coming week. Several scores of motor craft are on display. They include boats of every variety and size, from the little power dory, well within the means of anyone, to the palatial craft, that only a man of unlimited means can hope for.

For Bishop Ward Memorial.
Dallas, Texas, Jan. 22.—Methodist churches throughout Texas will observe tomorrow as "Ward Memorial Endowment Day," when tributes from every pulpit will be paid to the memory of Bishop Seth Ward and collections taken up in aid of the $100,000 fund which it is proposed to raise for Southwestern University as a memorial. Bishop Ward, who died several months ago in Japan, was a warm friend of the university and had purposed upon his return to America to start an endowment fund for the institution.

Accession Anniversary Observed.
London, Jan. 22.—London, with other parts of the United Kingdom, today celebrated in a befitting manner the ninth anniversary of the accession of King Edward VII. to the throne. Banners were flying on all government buildings, church bells were rung and the customary salutes fired. At Windsor the members of the royal family attended the annual memorial service for Queen Victoria.

Commander Peary To Speak.
New York, Jan. 22.—The annual dinners of the Society of the Genesee are always notable affairs; but the society's twelfth annual function at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight promises to eclipse all of its predecessors. Commander Robert E. Peary has been secured as one of the principal speakers. Others who will contribute to the program are Mrs. Clarence H. Maclean, Bourke Cockran and Arthur Brisbane.

SECURES DAMAGES FROM THE COMPANY

Man With Contract for Five Years Gains Verdict in Court Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oshkosh, Jan. 22.—In circuit court the jury returned a special verdict in favor of John Loos of Appleton against the Walter Browning company of that city. The jury answered eight questions favorable to the plaintiff and decided he was entitled to damages to the amount of $1,771.43. Mr. Loos has been employed by the Miller Browning company for sixteen years and he was induced to act as agent for the Walter Browning company, signing for a five-year contract. Upon the charges that complaints were being made, officers of the company endeavored to relegate Mr. Loos to the bottling department and he refused.

DECIDE ON PLAN FOR FINANCING THE BIG LOANS

HANKOW-SZECHUEN RAILWAY LOANS DECIDED ON.

MANY MILLIONS INVOLVED

J. P. Morgan and Company to Handle the Big End of American Deal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Jan. 22.—A settlement has finally been reached regarding the Hankow-Szechuen railway loan of thirty millions was reported in banking circles today, and the allotment of the bonds will be announced in the near future. England, France, Germany and the United States are each to share in one quarter of the interest, or in $7,500,000 of the proposed loan. J. P. Morgan and company, who are representing the American syndicate, it is said, have agreed to reimburse the Macey-Hawley syndicate, who held original concession from the Chinese government for all actual outlays heretofore made in cash and give them a substantial interest in the new loan.

FATHER'S ASSISTANT CAPTURED THE SON

Michigan Man Found in San Francisco by Father's Deputy Sheriff.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 22.—After being sought for three years by his own father, a sheriff of a Michigan county, Hoy E. Pettik, a Michigan university graduate and an alleged embezzler, forger and deserter from the United States navy, was arrested here last night upon a chance meeting on the street with one of his father's deputies. It is understood he will be turned over to the federal authorities. According to the police, Pettik lived in Racine, Gratiot county, Michigan, where he practiced law. He is alleged to have forged the name of his wife's mother to a mortgage of $3,500, secured the money and disappeared. Later he enlisted in the navy, but deserted. The deputy who captured Pettik came west to attend the funeral of a brother and was instructed by Sheriff Pettik to make inquiries for his son while here.

TRIAL CREATES MUCH INTEREST

END OF REMARKABLE RUSSELL IDENTITY CASE IS IN SIGHT.

PUBLIC OPINION DIVIDED

Romantic Features and Sensations That Rival Work of Fiction Have Appeared in Course of Proceedings.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Jan. 22.—The most notable identity case ever tried before an American judge, a case rivaling in interest and resembling in many respects the famous Tichborne case in England a generation ago, is now nearing the close of its trial in the Middlesex probate court in Fleet Street. For nearly four months the public hereabouts has followed with intense interest the daily court proceedings which are expected to prove whether the North Dakota ranchman calling himself Daniel Blake Russell is really the son of Daniel Russell of Maine as he claims to be, or is a shrewd and daring impostor. For weeks the trial has formed a staple topic of discussion throughout New England. And, with the end of the trial in sight, it may be said that public opinion in regard to the validity of the claim seems to be as much divided as at the beginning of the famous case.

The trial has been enlivened with romantic features, surprises and sensations which would find difficulty of belief if appearing in a work of fiction. At first sight it would appear to be an easy matter for a man to prove his identity in a community where he had passed his boyhood until his eighteenth or nineteenth year and where many friends and relatives who had known him intimately as a youth were still living. And, on the other hand, it would seem preposterous for a man to believe that he could successfully impersonate another person in a community where that person had spent his youth and was still well remembered by friends and relatives. And yet, friends, relatives and the general public who have followed the testimony day by day seem unable to agree on the solution of the question. The testimony of the man who is trying to establish his identity as the long lost son of the late Daniel Russell, and thereby secure from the other son a half interest in the million-dollar estate left by the elder Russell, is stranger than many a tale of romance and adventure. In his fight for recognition the claimant has told on the stand, in a simple way and with remarkable memory, of the events which he left in Maine 24 years ago. For a time he lived the life of a tramp, getting from one part of the country to another as best he might. He has worked with circus and as a deck hand, and spent winters in lumber camps and mills in the Northwest. Finally he landed in North Dakota. There he was successful in speculations in hay and in cattle lands, and became a manager of ranches and a prosperous land owner.

To support his claim as Daniel Blake Russell there have been produced in court upwards of 50 witnesses to identify the claimant as the son of Daniel Russell. Of these, some have known him for 40 years. They knew him intimately in many cases, and were acquainted with the peculiarities and characteristics of his youth. With the presentation of these witnesses, Senator Leslie A. Simpson of North Dakota, who is conducting the case for the plaintiff, rested his direct case.

To oppose this claim, the respondent has stated that the claimant is an impostor not Daniel Blake Russell, but James Delbert Russell, who was born of poor parents in Bombay, N. Y., in 1865, three years after the birth of the rightful heir. They have produced a man and woman in court to testify that they are the brother and sister, respectively, of the claimant. And Mr. and Mrs. Joseph, who have claimed him as their son. Numerous others have taken the stand to say that he is the "Jim" Russell whom they knew in northwestern New York as a backwoodsman, blacksmith and circus hand.

SEEK PARDONS FOR BRUTAL MURDERERS

Friends Of W. A. Death and Walter McAllister Trying To Secure Their Release.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 22.—It is reported that at the next meeting of the Board of Pardons another effort will be made to secure the release on parole of William A. Death and Walter McAllister, who were committed from Paterson in 1901 for complicity in the murder of Jennie Doascheiter. Death and McAllister, together with George Kory and Andrew J. Campbell, were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Miss Doascheiter on Oct. 18, 1900, by the administration of chloral and subsequent assault. The crime was one of the most revolting ever committed in New Jersey. McAllister, Death and Campbell were each sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment at hard labor, and Kory to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor.

VEGETABLE SLICER

Handy Kitchen Device Which May Be Easily Constructed.

Any handy man, or handy woman, for that matter, can build a vegetable slicer, which will be a great improvement on the rather expensive device which are shown in the shops. Take a piece of white wood, planed very clean, about seven inches or eight inches long and four inches wide, with two inch wide ends on each side, and a hole in the center of each end. With an ordinary table knife slipped through the two staples, the cucumber can be cut very rapidly and evenly by passing the cucumber against the board and sliding it down the blade of the knife, the staples acting as a gauge for the thickness of the slices.

STARTED MAKING THE "WISCO" AUTO

SOME WEEKS AGO FOR SPRING DELIVERY.

WILL PUSH THE MACHINE

Advertising Campaign to be Begun at Once—Another Auto Factory May Come to Janesville.
Janesville now has, in the Wisconsin Motor Car Co., owned and operated by the Wisconsin Carriage Co., an automobile manufacturing concern, which, when operations are in full swing and the public begins to recognize the excellent points of the car, will be one of the leading industries of the city. Unlike some of the auto projects that have been agitated in this city, there has been no fuss made over the launching of the factory. Since the officers of the carriage company took up the idea of manufacturing a high grade automobile in the city, they have gone forward in a businesslike manner, designed a steer with torsion tube enclosing the driving shaft and the front axle is double channel section pressed steel. Both are fitted with ball bearings. There are two sets of expanding brakes on the rear wheel drums; the steering gear is of the worm and gear type; and the spark and throttle levers operating the control are on a stationary quadrant on the wheel top. The body, either five passenger touring or four passenger baby tonneau, steel constructed on an ash frame and upholstered in buffed leather, rests on semi-elliptic springs in front and three quarter elliptic springs in the rear and 24-inch wheels of the artillery type with one and a half inch spokes. The gasoline tank has a capacity of eighteen gallons. The new car can be obtained in either of two colors, blue body with blue gear or blue body with cream gear. It also carries a full equipment of lights, both gas and oil, with kit of tools. The price of the "Wisco" has been fixed at $1750.00, which is considered very reasonable when the workmanship, material and excellent points of the car are taken into consideration. Taken all in all, the Wisconsin Motor Car company numbers to be a good live automobile factory, such as car that embodies all the best features of first class motor cars, built in a demonstrating machine, and made arrangements for the manufacture and sale of their new product. The new automobile, which is called the "Wisco," will be a distinctly Janesville product. All the officers of the concern are citizens of this city, the work putting the cars together will be performed in the plant of the Carriage company and the general offices will be located here.

It was in view of this addition to their output, that the company built their new and up-to-date addition of West Milwaukee St. With the facilities afforded by the old plant and the addition, it will be possible to supply both the demand for autos and vehicles. Naturally, the extra work occasioned by the manufacture of the "Wisco" will necessitate the employment of a greater force, but this increase in the number of employees will be determined by the number of cars sold. Although the first model is complete as regards the mechanism, was finished and tested late last November, the company has just finished a complete car which is exactly the machine that will be put on the market. Contracts for an extensive advertising campaign have been let, plates and cuts made, and as soon as the material arrives in this city, a number of machines for the 1910 market will be made. The first car, which was started early in October, was designed by T. E. Wagoner and constructed by Oliver Glendon, machinist.

With regard to the appearance and the makeup of the "Wisco," there are no unusual departures or freakish constructions to catch or arouse popular interest but the designers have embodied every standard and reliable improvement in motor car construction that will make for a staunch and trust worthy machine. As regards the details of construction, the "Wisco" has a vertical, four cycle, four cylinder water-cooled motor, with a four and three-quarter inch stroke, four and three-eighths inch bore, white bronze bearings and capable of producing 35 horse power. It has a constant level splash lubrication system, chrome leather faced cone clutch, sliding gear selective type transmission, with gears of heat treated steel and annual ball bearings. Schellor model L float feed type carburetor, and Bosch high tension and a four unit coil and timer with battery ignition system. The car has a 118-inch wheelbase; the frame is of cold rolled pressed steel, 32 inches wide in front and 34 in the rear; the rear axle is of the full floating type, constructed of pressed

Janesville has been looking for.

Efforts on the Part of a Number of Local Business Men Prove to be Successful, Another Motor Car Factory Will be Located in Janesville. The company which those interested are endeavoring to persuade to come to this city, is a Chicago concern engaged in the manufacture of commercial automobiles and at present employs about seventy-five men.

According to the reports of those who have viewed the company's plant, it is in a flourishing condition and has an assured future. The officials wish to increase the capitalization to $500,000, part of which would be subscribed in this city. At the present time, the Chicago concern is cramped for room and needs increased facilities to handle their business. The movement now on foot is to persuade the firm to move their machinery to the new tobacco warehouse belonging to M. F. Green & Sons, a place well fitted as regards strength of construction for automobile manufacturing.

Although every effort is being made to induce the company to come, success is still uncertain as several cities are bending every effort to the same end.

Theodore Dreifortstein, who was known several years ago as the South-end beauty, will appear in the South-end League next season.

Russell Ford, who pitched good ball for Jersey City last year, will no doubt be a regular with the Highlanders next season.

Billy Hamilton, one of the greatest base stealers that ever plowed up the paths, is against the long sharp spikes. Billy was the short dull one.

President Nagel of the Philadelphia National League club has given out the statement that $100,000 would be spent in improving the Quakers' plant.

The Harvard baseball management has under consideration Eddie Clement, Eddie Jones, Bill Donovan and Alvin Brown as coach for the Harvard pitchers.

President Johnson of the American League never asks his umpires to sign contracts but simply takes their word, both he and they being at liberty to part at a day's notice.

"There is one advantage in having your roof on fire," says Charlie Dohm. "I'll bet my asbestos cap that managing the Phillies will not turn my red hair grey next season."

It would greatly please National League players if Honus Wagner of the Pirates would play first base. They figure they would then be able to hit one through the short field now and then.

New York fans are wondering considerably why Stallings sold George McSherry to Rochester. They contend that the "Human String" would have been sure to make good with the Highlanders coming season.

There is some gossip going the rounds that Hugh Jennings intends to bargain and tag Tom Jones, but Tom is still a "flier" and will, there is no doubt, go South with the Detroit team for spring practice.

Manager Mike Kelly of the St. Paul club sold enough players to clear $23,000 last season. And this in spite of the fact that in the American association race the St. Paul team fell into the ditch last season.

President Powers of the Eastern League has appointed Jack Doyle of Cincinnati an umpire. Doyle was a catcher for Conley's St. Louis Browns about twenty years ago, but has kept close tabs on the game ever since.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED TO A BELOIT DOCTOR

Dr. Isaac Buckenridge Alleged Not to Have Reported Cases of Scarlet Fever to Health Officer.

Beloit, Jan. 21.—An outgrowth of the prevalence of scarlet fever to an alarming degree is the charge brought by Health Officer M. G. Spaw against Dr. Isaac Buckenridge, one of the oldest and best established physicians in the city on the complaint that he failed to duly report a scarlet fever case as required by law. Dr. Buckenridge's defense will be that he was not satisfied that the case was really scarlet fever, and sending his visits to the family he did not become responsible for the case. Dr. Spaw states that the physicians and families will be held strictly responsible for their part in suppressing news of scarlet fever cases. They are beginning to turn new cases as originating from others which for a long time could not be done, and every case seemed to be coming from six families and twenty patients un-

Saving One Storm.
When a certain Atchison man visits another town, his wife complains and so does his mother. Therefore, in order to avoid it, he says he is going out to get shaved and doesn't return until the visit is over. When he returns there is a storm, but under the old plan there were two storms, one before he went and another after his return.—Atchison Globe.

Unusual Honeymoon.
One of the most surprising honeymoons ever spent was that of an elderly widower who took affectionate leave of his young wife—his third—on their wedding day, and started on a leisurely wedding trip accompanied by his young daughter.—New York Times.

Time's Limit on Success.
At 30 we are trying to cut our names in big letters upon the walls of this transient life; 20 years later we have carved it, or shut up our jack-knife.—Holmes, "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

Cultivate Courage.
Let doubt and fear once clutch thee, and death be thine; but thy glory shall be as a flaming sky, and everlasting, if thou but once look deep into the eyes of courage.

Worms

"Cascara is certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape worm 48 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Preck, of Milwaukee, Wis. He is now quite a worker for Cascara. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood." Chas. H. Campbell, Lewiston, Me. (Mills Co.) Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sickens, Weakens or Gripes. 25c, 50c, $1.00. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C.C.C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back.

The National A. C. of Philadelphia is trying to book Battling Nelson and Young Ernie for a six-round mass.

Young Peter Jackson has a small part in "The Gentleman from Mississippi" and also acts as valet for Burr McIntosh, the leading man.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Janesville Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times, 'tis the kidneys' fault. Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Don's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Janesville women know this. Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. H. P. Jones, 157 Western Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "I found Don's Kidney Pills to be a reliable remedy for backache and kidney trouble. I suffered from pains in my back for years and although I tried various remedies, I received no relief. I could not walk erect, and had a constant dull pain across my loins. I sat for awhile I could scarcely get up and I did not rest well. I noticed Don's Kidney Pills highly recommended and thinking they might benefit me, I procured a box at the People's Drug Co. They completely cured me in a short time. My back has been strong since then and my kidneys have been normal. Don's Kidney Pills are worthy of all the praise I can give them."

WAR ON THE BEEF TRUST IS PLANNED

ATTORNEY GENERAL CONTEMPLATES BRINGING GRAND JURY PROCEEDINGS.

SHERMAN ACT TO BE BASIS

Criminal Action is Also Likely—Wickerham Receives Report of Inquiry Into Relations Concerning Controlling National Packing Company.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Criminal prosecutions are to be brought against those comprising the beef trust. Action will be based on provisions contained in the Sherman act. The pre-valing high prices demanded for meat products is responsible for the institution of a suit.

Receives Report of Inquiry.
This information was obtained here in connection with an announcement that the attorney general has received a full report of the investigation which he recently ordered into the relations existing between the National Packing Company of Chicago and Swift & Co., Armour & Co. and Morris & Co., the three concerns which jointly control the National Packing Company.

Within a couple of weeks, or as soon as the details can be arranged, the attorney general will institute a grand jury proceeding in Chicago, the intent of which is to ascertain whether or not the National Packing Company is a combination in restraint of trade under the Sherman anti-trust law. Inasmuch as the grand jury proceedings are only resorted to where criminal proceedings are contemplated, the inference is plain, though Mr. Wickerham will make no statement that his hope is to land somebody in jail.

Trust is Alarmed.

That the beef trust is alarmed over the outlook is also evident, because it is known that agents of the trust learned that a report on its operations had been received here in advance of the information being made public. It was the fact that the trust had got hold of this information that brought out the story of the contemplated proceedings.

Precisely what has been discovered
the officials of the department of justice decline to state. Definite information of any kind was refused at the department, but it is learned that there is sufficient evidence in hand to warrant a forward step, the importance of which is plain in these days of high prices for all the necessities of life.

EXPLOSION INJURES 13 MEN.

Patterson, N. J., is Shaken as if By Earthquake.

Patterson, N. J., Jan. 22.—A sudden shock as that of an earthquake, shook the city, when a set of dynamite exploded in the Edison Electric Light Works. Thirteen men were injured, several of whom may die. Street car service was suspended for several hours.

Cars going at full speed jarred to instant stops, throwing passengers about in confusion. The demonization extended even to Passaic and other towns. In the theaters which contained massive crowds, wild panics ensued.

FLY UP TWO MILES IN BALLOON.

Two Aeronauts Break Record at California Aviation Meeting.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22.—Clifford
D. Harrison of New York and George Harrison marked the end of the aviation meeting by going up 10,600 feet in a balloon—a new record for the Pacific coast.

The two aeronauts ascended in the balloon New York just after noon and soon attained an altitude of two miles.
Coming down at Hollywood, a suburb of this city, in the darkness, they struck a house top and nearly tore off
the roof. Neither was hurt.

LACKAWANNA REFUSES RAISE.

Demissas Demands of Its Conductors
and Trainmen for Increase.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad demanded the demands of its conductors and trainmen for an increase in wages. The railroad took the novel ground that the installation of safety devices has lessened the risks the iron run and has so far increased the railroad's operating expenses that the advance of nearly 21 per cent in wages is impossible.

PROBE ALLEGED MILK TRUST.

Matter Will Be Laid Before Grand Jury Next Tuesday.

New York, Jan. 22.—Justice Goff, in the supreme court next Tuesday will institute a criminal inquiry against the milk trust in a charge to the special grand jury based upon information as to the theft from the citizens of Manhattan of more than $1,000,000 yearly through the use of short milk bottles by unscrupulous dealers.

Will Reimburse Boldenweck.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The house passed a bill to reimburse W. A. Bol-denweck, the United States assistant treasurer at Chicago, in the sum of $175,000 stolen from the sub-treasury
a few years ago.

Report Colorado Disaster.

Denver, Jan. 22.—The Colorado and Southern passenger train from Denver to Leadville is reported wrecked at South Platte tonight. Several are reported killed.

WEDS GIRL TO MAKE HER HEIR.

Dying Man at Denver Marries Miss Helen Buehler of Chicago.

Denver, Col., Jan. 22.—William Garfield Jackson of Brooklyn, N. Y., where he owns valuable realty, wishing to make Miss Helen C. Buehler of Chicago his undoubted heir, married her here after the doctors had told him he had only a few more hours to live.

Jackson met the girl in Chicago
while on his way to Denver in search of health. She nursed him there, and at his request accompanied him to Denver. She nursed him day and night for several months until she is now worn to a shadow.

Jackson after the ceremony was removed to a hospital. He is 29 years of age and his bride 18.

NO MONOPOLY IN TELEGRAPHY.

Clarence H. Mackey Says Postal Company is Still a Competitor.

New York, Jan. 22.—"The Postal Telegraph Company will be the last competitor in telegraphy, and when that competition ceases there will be a choice only between monopoly and government ownership." This is Clarence H. Mackey's view of the telegraph situation in the United States, as expressed before a committee of the state legislature which is trying to determine the advisability of placing telegraph and telephone under state regulation. Although president of the Postal company, Mr. Mackey said he received no salary.

Engine Hits Trolley; Five Hurt.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 22.—A Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad train struck a Union avenue street car late last night
and five persons were seriously hurt.
The approaching train was hidden from the motorman by a blinding snowstorm.

Re-elected Head of Miners.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—Thomas
L. Lewis of Ohio was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America over William Green of Ohio,
his only opponent, by 22,597 majority.

RUNS AWAY WITH A COLLEGE.

Professor Elopes with the Entire Student Body and the Faculty.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 22.—With 43 pupils and three teachers loaded on a special coach on the Rock Island, Professor Raymond Hordan succeeded in eloping with the entire student body and faculty of Jubilee college at midnight,
while Bishop Edward Fawcett, Rev. H.
A. Percival and Attorneys Maple, Hog-ness and Osburn were in deep conference to stop what appeared to be the casual observer to be a wholesale job of kidnapping.

Professor Mordan and his traveling boys' academy were bound for Chicago. His counselors, Judge Maple and Leo Osburn, the latter from La-Porte, Ind., who conferred with Bishop Fawcett, were unable to reach a settlement.

"SORRY HE FAILED TO KILL."

Prominent Attorney is Seriously

Wounded by Client's Husband.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 22.—Howard C. Webb, a prominent attorney, was shot and seriously injured by Walter K. Newport, equally prominent in insurance circles. Four months ago Webb was the attorney for Mrs. Newport in a divorce suit.
She won on the ground of intolerable cruelty and obtained custody of their only child, a daughter twelve years old.

When he had failed to kill Webb,

Newport said:
"I am sorry I failed. He stole my wife and daughter."

NOT A GAMBLING TRANSACTION.

Jury Decides Purchase of a "Put" Is No Hazard.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 22.—The purchase of a "put" in corn is not a gambling transaction, according to the verdict of a jury in the trial of a suit brought by E. W. Wagner of Chicago, member of the Chicago board of trade, against the Engel-Miller Company, in Judge Williams' court. Mr.
Wagner brought suit for $650 as a result of a deal in corn on the Chicago board of trade. The defendant set up that the deal was nothing more than a gambling transaction and therefore the plaintiff had no standing in court.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

"There are churches in various parts of the land whose pastors are breaking away from conventional ideas and parish traditions, and are doing work which may be the pioneering of a great new movement to come later," says Hampton's Magazine for February. "Many of these isolated cases are full of interest, as witness the instance of Dr. Edward M. Frank, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Advent in Philadelphia.

"The neighborhood of the Church of the Advent was at one time fashionable, but the march of trade and the growth of the city changed it from a residence to a factory and a tenement district. But for the fact that the church had an endowment from the estate of a long-dead parishioner of wealth, its doors would have been closed years ago. When, in March, 1908, Dr. Frank became rector, he preached his first sermon to an audience of eighteen. With the view of increasing his congregation Dr. Frank made a thorough canvass of the neighborhood, only to find that his parish was composed of people who were struggling with a problem far more serious than his. For their problem was how to live decently on incomes wholly inadequate for the purpose.

"It had been the intention of the young rector to conduct church work along lines that seemed adapted to the needs of the community, and at once it appeared to his practical mind that the most immediate need of that community was groceries, coal, and other plain necessities at low prices. In December, 1908, the rector opened a co-operative store, in which groceries, coal, and articles of clothing were sold at practically cost prices. Membership in the co-operative venture means a fee of only twenty-five cents, and today more than two hundred dollars' worth of groceries is delivered each week to members.

"In May, 1909, Dr. Frank announced from the pulpit his intention of opening, in the basement of the church, a lunchroom, where the girls working in nearby factories could buy a comfortable noonday meal for five cents. The first noon three girls, wearing rather scared expressions, knocked at the basement door. The food offered them was good, and the portions were generous, and when the second noonday whistle shrieked, the girls returned, bringing a group of friends. Today, the basement is thronged every noon hour.

"Not content with helping his people to save money, Dr. Frank sought means to help them to earn it. Simultaneously with the opening of the noonday lunchroom, this original clergyman established in his parish a model factory for the manufacture of men's clothing. A part of the product of the factory is reserved for sale to working people, at low prices. The rest is sold to department stores at regular market rates.

"There are no more empty pews in Dr. Frank's 'Adaptive Christianity,' more largely masculine than most churches of any denomination, for Dr. Frank's 'Adaptive Christianity,' to use his own term, is of the virile order which attracts men, and especially working men."

been said and written concerning it. Every preacher has a theory, and when short of topics, most any kind of a writer can satisfy himself with a dozen reasons "why people don't go to church."

But the theory of the preacher and the self-satisfied conclusions of the writer fail to change conditions, and the great multitude of people continue to ignore the church.

A poll of church attendance was made in Beloit recently, and out of a population of 14,000 less than 2,500 were found in the pews on a pleasant Sunday morning. Of this number nearly half were found in the two Catholic churches.

These conditions are not peculiar to Beloit, for Janesville, as well as many other inland cities, would find it hard to make as good a showing. Were it not for the Catholic church, with its strong organization and distinctive loyalty, one good-sized auditorium would accommodate the average Protestant audience in many of the towns and smaller cities.

A vigorous writer startled the religious world not long ago with the statement that if half the church buildings in America were destroyed by fire and never rebuilt it would be a good thing for the cause.

His argument was that the country was overstocked with churches and that half the number would more than supply the demand. A cold-blooded argument, and too mercenary to command attention, as was discovered by the Rev. Vaughan, a former pastor of the Baptist church, when he started out on a campaign to consolidate the Protestant churches in the smaller towns of the state.

Mr. Vaughan produced statistics of his own and other denominations to show that from four to six weak churches were struggling for existence in the average inland town, where one, or at the outside two, could do more effective work, but he soon discovered that there's nothing quite so narrow as a church crowd, and the work was abandoned in its incipient stages.

What is true of the towns is true to a large extent of the inland cities. The ambition to erect a good house of worship is considered commendable and always encouraged by authorities in charge. As a result many a town with an income of $2,500 a year are attempting to support churches which demand twice that amount.

While the pews may be free the occupant is well aware of the fact that somebody must pay the freight and inability to do his share is embarrassing, so he soon loses interest and stays away.

The principle is very much the same as a man with a thousand-dollar income attempting to support a $10,000 home. He may exist by exhausting every energy, but bare existence for either the man or the church means weakened vitality and loss of power. This line of thought is simply suggestive, but it applies with more force to Wisconsin than to any other state in the union because of its peculiar make-up in population.

The census of the Catholic church just taken shows a gain of more than 5,000 in 1909 and gives a total membership of some 530,000. The Lutheran church is equally strong, while the other denominations have less than 100,000. The growth of the latter during the past quarter century has not kept pace with the growth of the state. This is due to the birth rate and to the fact that with rare exception the children of Catholic and Lutheran homes graduate from the home to the churches. If it were possible to unite the forces of the other churches it would seem that greater good could be accomplished.

Occasionally men stand out as leaders in the religious world like captains of industry in the commercial and industrial world—men of initiative, men of resources, whose work commands respect but is difficult to copy or imitate.

Such a man is the young Episcopal rector of the Philadelphia church. Not satisfied to live on the bounty of a wealthy parishioner, and preach to a handful of people, he went out into the highways and byways of life to enter into the life of humanity about him, struggling for bread with thought and energy absorbed in the conflict.

By putting himself in their place he became one of them, and soon they recognized him as a brother man, and when the burdens of the week had been lightened they honored him with their presence at church on Sunday—just an exchange of courtesies, but results were the most natural thing in the world.

Another young man similarly endowed took hold of a little weak church on the outskirts of Cleveland, a few years ago. Today he has a church edifice that cost $100,000, a membership of 1,200 and a Sunday school 1,000 strong. Asked how he did it he pointed to a well-equipped gymnasium in the basement and said, "This is my recruiting station. The boys and girls come here to play and we never lose them."

These men are working along the line of new thought, the line of least resistance. They believe that the church should open wide its doors to every boy and girl who will enter, making the way easy of access and sheltering them with homelike protection.

The air of indifference so common today is largely due to the fact that the men and women of this generation were permitted to drift away from the church at an age when the drifting might have been checked through wise management.

If the church profits by experience the boys and girls of today will contribute more liberally to the church-going men and women of the next decade.

which will be the keynote of his campaign in 1912. That he will be a candidate for the presidency is not a question of doubt, and that he will again be defeated is equally certain.

"Get busy" is the latest order from the White House, issued especially to the senate. The president depends on the upper house of congress for new legislation, and there will be something doing in the near future.

Heart to Heart Talks.

JUST FOR GIRLS.

My Dear Girl:
I who write to you this letter am fifty years of age, and I write to you as to a daughter. And if you will carefully read what I say and ponder over it you may be saved from some regretful hours—or worse.

Know this:
The average man in his attitude toward girls and women is a sort of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde personage. He has two sides—a good and a bad side.

For instance—
The average young man will spend hours in coaxing a girl to kiss him and then think less of her when she consents. Strange, but true.

The average young man will outwardly encourage a girl to do things that he knows to be wrong and inwardly despise her for her weakness.

Inconsistent?
Precisely. Men are built that way. If you think that putting aside your natural modesty and doing the things men may ask you to do—things not necessarily criminal in themselves, but merely indiscreet—you make a big mistake.

With a man's inconsistency, the one to whom you permit a familiarity will brag about it to his chums. And they will laugh about it, and your good name will be lightly held.

But—
There's another side to the man. If you prove to him that you are modest and pure and capable of taking care of yourself he will respect you down deep in his heart.

And should your name come up in discussion he will see that it is unsullied. And if you should need his protection he will defend you as staunchly as if he were your brother.

Do you see?
Every girl ought to know. Her mother should tell her.

If your mother has never explained this two-sided nature of men to you I, who write, would feel myself guilty toward you who read my writing if I failed to make it plain.

Do not be a prude, and do not be afraid of any man. Be honest, frank and fearless, but DRAW THE LINE. Let every man know he crosses that line at his peril! He will not cross it. But he will respect you.

Remember, my girl—
Most men have two sides.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

The goodly old Mark Twain was dying, as once before they had him dead; it beats all how they have been trying to put a halo on his head.

Mark Twain, that MARK TWAIN blithe and glib, split, fears not the sunless river's flow; and when he thinks he's drawing near it, he won't forget to let us know. The triumphs of savants and sages, seem vain and profitless as chaff; they filled with lore their turgid pages, but Mark has found the nation's laugh. A king crookes a knight at pleasure, or tells a courtier with a frown. Far greater than a monarch's scepter, the wand that Mark has waved so long; it summons laughter, and has kept her dispensing happiness and song. It drives from weary hearts the sorrow, it banishes the base and mean; it gives us strength to meet the morrow, with hearts courageous and serene. Long may he live, and long be funny! And when he decides to move, the world he leaves will be less sunny, the world he goes to will improve.

BATTLESHIP "INDIANA" GOES INTO DRYDOCK TO PREPARE FOR ONE OF THE MOST MOMENTOUS EXPERIMENTS IN MARITIME HISTORY.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Should the experiment that is about to be tried on the battleship "Indiana" be a success, navigation will be safeguarded in a way never hoped for by the most optimistic sailor. The warship has been drydocked at the League Island navy yard and work has already been begun to fit her with a pair of bronze fins that are to be worked from the bridge. The photograph shows the scaffolding erected amidships for the construction of the newly designed bridle, which consists of broad-bladed wings which fold against the side of the ship when not in use and do not impede her progress in any way, until it becomes imperative to stop her suddenly to avoid collision. Then the move pulling of a lever on the bridge causes the wings to open out, midships and the pressure of the water against the broad blades is expected to stop the vessel at once.

The approval of Secretary of the Navy Meyer and of Naval Constructor (Stahl) has been given to the new invention, which is of Canadian origin.

Boston, Mass.—Secretary Winthrop Marvin of the National association of Wool Manufacturers, one of the best known statisticians in the country has just issued the annual Wool Review and Sheep Counts of the United States, compiled from figures gathered for the association. This document is considered the authority in the wool trade. Mr. Marvin's report places the number of sheep in for shearing in this country at 1,233,205, an increase of 1,841,657 over the preceding year. Total production of wool in the United States was 328,110,719 pounds, an increase of 4,503,173 pounds over the year preceding. The total value of the clip, estimated on Boston prices, is $88,829,740, as compared with a value of $61,707,516 for the year 1908.

Something Good.

I WAS making an across-the-country trip in New Hampshire last winter, and when the thermometer went down to zero I stopped at a farmhouse and had the horse put up. The farmer acknowledged that it was good, bracing weather, but when he came in from milking after supper, he said to his old wife:

"Ginner, it's really colder it's getting cold. It's 22 below now. I guess it's going to be a chilly night."

"Yes, mebbe 'tis."

Pretty soon he went out to see if the horse was all right, and upon returning he backed up to the stove and said:

"Hinner, she's 21 below now. I guess it's going to be a chilly night."

"Yes, mebbe 'tis."

Half an hour later a neighbor dropped in, knocking on his back and his boots cracking, and said to Uncle Zeke:

"It's about 20 below by my thermometer when I left the house. Shouldn't wonder if we had to have extra stoves on the bed tonight."

"Do you hear that, Hinner?" was asked. "Mr. White says it's gone to 20 below."

"Well?"

"Yes, mebbe 'tis."

"And 'spos she goes to 40 below?"

"Yes, mebbe 'tis."

"Well, well, she's thought that it's a good night to freeze out the bugs and later bugs."

WATER COMPANY'S ACTION ACCEPTED

RAILROAD COMMISSION ISSUES IT A NEW FRANCHISE.

RECEIVES PAPERS TODAY

This Grants It an Indeterminate Franchise Under Supervision of the Commission.

C. S. Jackman this morning received from the State Railway Commission their official acceptance of the franchise which the Water Company sought to the state several days ago and also the indeterminate franchise which the state grants in lieu of the one at the city.

This places the Janesville Water Company directly under the supervision of the State Railway Commission relative to the establishment of rates, both for private and city consumption of water and matters relating to the extension of the present mains and establishing the volumetric meter installation rate.

The following is the new franchise granted the local company by the commission which was received today:

Before the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin.

To Whom It May Concern:

Whereas, The Janesville Water Company, a public utility and a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Wisconsin, heretofore under existing Wisconsin, permits or franchises granted by the city of Janesville in said state, has filed with the State of Wisconsin, and with the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, a written declaration legally executed, that it surrenders such licenses, permits or franchises, as appears from the certificate of the city clerk of the city of Janesville, showing the fact that such written declaration was filed with such city clerk on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1910, and from the files and records in this office:

Now Therefore, This is to certify that such public utility, to-wit: The Janesville Water Company, is on and after the 26th day of January, A. D. 1910, in lieu of such licenses, permits or franchises, which it surrendered, the holder of an indeterminate permit, as provided in the statutes and laws of the state of Wisconsin relating to public utilities.

Dated at the city of Madison, in the state of Wisconsin, this 26th day of January, A. D. 1910.

RAILROAD COMMISSION OF WISCONSIN.

By J. M. Winterbottom, Secretary.

(Railroad Commission of Wisconsin Seal)

City Attorney Maxfield had prepared a protest which was to be forwarded to the Railroad Commission asking that they give the city a hearing before granting the surrender of the charter. In it Mr. Maxfield calls attention to the agreement which the water company had entered into with the city at the time its franchise was granted and stated that the surrender of the charter would invalidate this agreement.

He especially based his protest upon the objection of the water company being relieved from the performance of the contract that now exists between the city and the company as regards furnishing water to the city for fire protection at an annual hydrant rental, including the water furnished the city schools and public buildings, for flushing sewers and streets, at $4,200 per year and also the agreement reached for the installation of additional hydrants on the company's original thirteen miles of water mains at an annual rental of five dollars.

It is probable that this protest will be given a hearing before the commission at some later date, but it will only affect the fixing of the rate which will be charged the city and will in no way have anything to do with the new franchise which has already been signed and placed on file.

STERLING CAMPBELL WON HONORS IN MEET

Janesville's Y. M. C. A. Athlete First in Apparatus Work at State Meet at Kenosha.

Sterling Campbell, one of the members of the athletic team representing the Janesville Y. M. C. A. at the state athletic and gymnasium meet at Kenosha, Thursday evening, won first place in the contest on apparatus work on the parallel and horizontal bars and the horse and made fifty-five points for the local association. His achievements brought the only points awarded to the Janesville association. His work was a special feature of the competition on the apparatus and he showed much better form than any of the other contestants.

Campbell, a member of the Y. M. C. A. won first place in the meet and second in the parallel and horizontal bars. He also won second place in the horse and made fifty-five points for the local association. The showing made by Janesville, through Campbell, is excellent as his competitors all came from associations located in cities much larger than the Bower City.

The results of the meet:

JOHANNESBURG IS FIRST IN FIELD

NO BELLS ANNOUNCED ITS APPROACH, BUT IT CAME.

IT ARRIVED LAST EVENING

Had Neat Little Tail Which It Wagged as It Journeyed Along the Sky.

Unannounced by the ringing of bells or the blaring of horns, but with tail wagging, Herr Johannesburg, tramp of the heavens, dark horse, crawled under the wire ahead of Halley's comet of Friday night.

Many Janesville people witnessed the debut of the aerial body rider as he waltzed around the circle and took up his position near the west side of the horizon. For twenty minutes after the sun set the new comet showed himself to be admired. Then Johannesburg gracefully slipped out of sight.

The new comet with the South African cognomen was seen without telescopes at the York observatory Wednesday night, according to reports. Thursday night cloudy weather made it impossible to see the comet.

Janesville people saw Johannesburg slightly to the north of the point where the sun set. It showed the sun beyond the horizon after an interval of about thirty minutes. "It looked like a star with a tail about three feet long," said one Janesville man, who was looking at the sky to see what he could see.

Astronomers say that they do not know where the comet came from or whence it is bound. Two clear nights are all that are needed to clear up the mystery, they say.

Seen at Beloit.

Beloit, Jan. 22.—Thousands of people were privileged to see the comet which coursed its way through the heavens between five and six o'clock last evening and it was a beautiful and interesting sight. The comet was headed to the southwest and was near the horizon. Its head was more brilliant than any star ever looked at, and behind it trailed a tail of light.

This extended for several hundred feet. The little familiar with astronomy needed not be told that the comet was not a shooting star. The common impression was that it was the newly discovered Halley comet.

The shipmen from the Fairbanks Morse plant and other institutions were on their way home from work as the comet was at its most brilliant state, and the word of its presence was quickly passed from mouth to mouth by those who saw it. The telephone wires fairly burned with the messages from one person to another to see the heavenly tramp.

For a long time during the evening Prof. W. A. Hamilton, astronomer of Beloit college, was the busiest man in the city answering questions about the unexpected sight.

To a Gazette representative Prof. Hamilton said: "I am sorry to say that I did not see the comet tonight. You may rest assured that the body seen by so many tonight is not the Halley comet."

"That is now almost over our heads, between the planets Mars and Saturn. The bright star farther in the north-west is Venus. There are several comets being followed by the astronomers who are following that branch of the work. A Professor Frost has lately discovered a new comet, said to be at present visible to the naked eye, and I presume the visitor here tonight was that one. It will probably be visible at about the same hour tonight, but nearer the horizon."

A comet, the professor explained is a mass of gas meteors and increases or decreases in their size as they wear out or gather strength. Prof. Hamilton was not prepared to discuss last night's comet in detail because its presence was a surprise to him.

Those who are interested will do well to be on the outlook after midnight for the comet and will probably locate it near the horizon in the southwest.

AGED MINISTER DEAD AT MILTON JUNCTION

Elder L. L. Bond, Aged 97, Passed Away Yesterday in Milton Junction.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton Junction, Jan. 22.—Elder L. L. Bond, for over half a century a resident of this place, and nearly ninety-seven years of age, died yesterday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Erwin Loeb, where he has made his home for a number of years. His demise was brought on by his extreme old age.

Elder Bond was born in Lost Creek, West Virginia, April 11, 1813. He was married to Miss Eliza Grant in West Virginia and they moved here to make their home over fifty years ago. Mrs. Bond preceded her husband to the world beyond in 1896.

Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Bond, only one of whom, Dr. L. L. Bond, of Denison, Ia., is living. He is here to attend the funeral of his father, which will take place Monday morning at eleven o'clock at the Seventh Day Baptist church. The remains will be interred in the cemetery at Milton.

ATHLETIC COACH IS PROMISED STUDENTS

President Van Hise Will Help Men Who Wish to Compete in Athletic Events.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin has promised the students that a competent coach would be engaged to instruct the fellows who are anxious to get out and train to the end that Wisconsin may appear on the athletic map when the next intercollegiate conference held and track meeting takes place next June. He says the negotiations for a coach are practically completed and the regents are expected next week to elect the man. President Van Hise refused to disclose the name in advance of final engagement, but it is said that a Cornell man is in mind.

This news has served to cheer the bolder students of athletic interest and already air castles are being built with "intercollegiate champions" painted over the doors.

The basketball team started the season by winning two practice games against Beloit and Ripon colleges and then won the first two games of the intercollegiate conference championship season, with Northwestern and Illinois. But the badgers set out Thursday on the first trip of the year in bad shape, and it was expected that Illinois would surely win on Friday night, with the prospect that Purdue will also defeat the badgers Saturday. From an Illinois badger, were complaining, Illinois of a bad cold and from a Cornell man that would not stand hard usage. Much also was suffering from the effects of a sore and swollen head. Next week another trip will be taken, Chicago being the opponent at that place on Jan. 28, and Indiana at Bloomington on Jan. 29. The next home game will be with Minnesota on Feb. 6.

As soon as the new coach of the track team takes hold, work will be started in preparation for the annual relay carnival on March 12. Illinois and Chicago, with Wisconsin, will make a hot three-cornered race with the main event, the intercollegiate mile relay, four men to a team, each contestant running a quarter-mile. Wisconsin has a candidate in prompt, Richards, Morris, Mitchell, Schmitt, Gulek and Damm.

The indoor work will serve to give preliminary training for the candidates for the track and field team which will represent Wisconsin in the conference competition at the end of the school year. Oscar Osthoff will again represent the badgers in the weight events. He is an admirable all-around athlete and it is said that he will compete in the 220-yard hurdles. It is probable, however, that he will confine himself to the weights and the broad jump, the events in which he has shown most effect. In the year past, Richards is another star upon which hope is built. Last year he won the short run in the dual meet with the strong Chicago team, but tore a ligament and could not appear to advantage. In subsequent meets, Paul Morris will train, and compete with him. He has made the 100 yards in ten seconds flat. Donna of Oshkosh will be depended upon in the distance runs. He is expected to win the mile and will also compete in the mile and half mile or two-mile race. Hal Lampert, another Oshkosh lad, star of the freshman football team and winner of the intercollegiate half-mile event, is also among the leading candidates. In the middle distance runs, Haver, a two-miler, is another promising bit of material. Lundy and Dacy will work with Osthoff. In the weight department, Lundy being especially promising in the discus throw.

The advance notice shows Wisconsin particularly strong in the high jump and pole vault. Adams and Rohm tied for first place in the high jump in a class meet last fall, each clearing the bar at 5 feet 11 inches, which should place them in the point-winning in the intercollegiate meet. Mercer, a pole vaulter, is said to have made a jump of 12 feet. Adams, who like Lampert and Donna, comes from Oshkosh, holds the high school record in the high hurdles. Rohm also is strong in this event. Peterson is a likely lad in the low barrier race. Adams is also a broad jumper.

MRS. BERRI WAS COLD IN DEATH

HAD EVIDENTLY BEEN DEAD FOR MORE THAN A WEEK.

NO SIGNS OF VIOLENCE

Discovery Was Made by William Lemartz—Deceased Was 85 Years Old and Had Lived Alone for Thirty Years.

Mrs. Agnes Berri, aged 85, widow of John Berri, who for the past thirty years had lived alone at her home, 811 Center street, was found lying cold in death by William J. Lemartz, a mail carrier, whose suspicions had been aroused by the fact that mail which he had left at the house during the past week had not been touched. She had been dead for at least a week.

Lemartz made the discovery at two o'clock this afternoon. Pounding on the door and receiving no answer, he pushed open the front door, which was unlocked, and discovered Mrs. Berri lying on her back in the bed with the quilts drawn over her face. He immediately notified the police, and Chief Appleby, together with District Attorney Fisher and a representative of the Gazette, proceeded to the home. A thorough search of the premises failed to uncover any signs of foul play. The rooms and furniture were all in order, none of the drawers or closets had been touched, and there were no footprints in the snow about the house. Mrs. Berri and her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Doherty, who had been visiting at the house, had been taken suddenly ill and fallen backward on the bed.

Mrs. Berri evidently had means enough to live comfortably. She drew a pension from the government, as her husband, who died about thirty years ago, was a veteran of the civil war.

Mrs. J. A. McArthur, a niece, who lived in La Prairie, was notified of her aunt's death as were several other relations who live in Chicago. When they arrived the police will guard the house, as many valuable personal effects, including an other skin cape worth several hundred dollars, are still in the house.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS INSISTENT

TELLS SENATORS POSTAL SAVINGS BANK BILL MUST BE ADOPTED.

OPPOSITION IS OVERCOME

President Has Conference With Members Post Office Committee—It Is Agreed Measure Shall Become Law at Present Session.

Washington, Jan. 22.—That senatorial opposition to the postal savings bank bill and that the measure will become a law at this session of congress was the announcement made from the White House after a conference between President Taft and members of the senate committee on post offices and postroads.

President Taft thus early put into effect his belief that congress has "got" to enact his entire legislative program at this session. The cabinet meeting went carefully over the whole program.

The interstate commerce bills have not yet been taken up by the committee, nor have the conservation bills, while the statehood bill is undergoing editorial revision. Postal savings, however, is ready for debate and it was decided to press this bill through in the senate while the house is disposing of the big appropriation bills.

Taft Calls Conference. Accordingly, immediately after luncheon, President Taft went word to Senators Penrose, Carter and Crane that he wished to see them at the executive offices. All three are members of the senate committee on post offices and postroads. Penrose and Crane have been opposed to the postal savings bank, while Carter has favored it. Penrose is chairman of the committee, Crane is the representative of Senator Aldrich, in the absence of the latter in Florida, and the opposition of both to postal savings banks is well known.

Plain Talk on Both Sides. There was an hour's talk in the president's room at which all sides of the question were discussed. Penrose and Crane voiced their opposition, and the president insisted upon the measure, not only as a performance of the party's pledge, but as a reform in which the people were vitally interested. There was plain talk on both sides, the president having the final say, which took the shape of a demand that the senate organization turn in for the bill. Penrose and Crane reluctantly consented and Senator Carter made public the news as the three left the executive offices.

"A postal savings bank bill has been agreed upon," he said, "and the measure will be passed by the senate."

The Sybarites. The Sybarites were the inhabitants of the ancient city of Sybaris, in southern Italy, founded 720 B. C. They were so greatly addicted to voluptuousness and self-indulgence that their name became a byword among the people of antiquity. The word "Sybarite" is used, at the present day, to denote a person devoted to luxury and pleasure.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE TO PROBE HOCKING SCANDAL

Investigating Committee Appointed—Members Demand Person Responsible for Slump Punished.

New York, Jan. 22.—The governors of the stock exchange have appointed A. M. Cahoon, M. L. Ames and Ernest Groesbeck as a committee to investigate the Hocking Coal and Iron scandal.

With the exception of Mr. Cahoon, the committee is the same that probed the Rock Island scandal of a few weeks ago, upon the report of which governors of the stock exchange punished the brokers who filled the orders of a powerful operator, who, not being a member of the exchange, could not be disciplined. He in the Hocking case, the person who is charged with being directly responsible for the extraordinary slump in Hocking stock is beyond the jurisdiction of the exchange.

Nevertheless, so great is the scandal and public distrust of stock exchange methods, that the members of that institution decline nothing will suffice in this instance save punishment which will prevent similar practices.

The stock exchange drafts legislative investigation and the possibility of being forced to incorporate and subject itself to state supervision.

The Hocking pool was organized about a year ago by James H. Keene and associated with him were not less than a dozen other Wall street operators. At the time of the crash it is said that practically all the stock was held by forty men.

BOYCOTT TAKES SERIOUS TURN.

Man Is Severely Beaten When He Buys Supply of Meat.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 22.—The meat boycott which struck Pittsburg some days ago has taken a serious turn. It is estimated that within a radius of 25 miles of Pittsburg there are not less than 75,000 persons who have sworn not to eat meat for days.

Many of those who have hesitated to sign the no-meat paper are rapidly being clubbed into line. Winifred Bauers, a miner at Mayville, a few miles from Pittsburg was badly beaten by five of his neighbors who met him coming out of a butcher shop with meat in his arms. Bauers is under the care of a physician.

The different labor unions of Pittsburg passed resolutions endorsing the no-meat idea.

GRAHAM IS TO SUCCEED LLOYD.

House Democrats Elect New Member Investigating Committee.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Democratic caucus unanimously elected James M. Graham as successor to James T. Lloyd on the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. The nomination of Mr. Graham will be submitted to the Republican caucus chairman and to the leaders and it will be reported to the house on Monday.

It is believed that Mr. Graham will prove acceptable to the Republicans and to President Taft and that he will be elected unanimously by the house. Mr. Graham is a lawyer with a state-wide reputation in Illinois; a good ex-aminer, conservative and fair.

15 MEN KILLED IN TUNNEL.

Ton of Nitroglycerin Explodes—Five Seriously Injured.

New York, Jan. 22.—Twenty men engaged in boring a tunnel through a small mountain near Cold Springs, to form a part of the aqueduct which is to supply water to New York city from the Croton dam, were about to leave their task, preparatory to setting off almost a ton of nitroglycerin, when the explosive was mysteriously fired. Fifteen of the workmen were killed and the other five were seriously injured. The explosion occurred 500 feet from the entrance. Most of the victims were young Italians and Hungarians. There were three American men among the dead.

WOULD DRESS PUPILS ALIKE.

Iowan Believes Costly Togs of Rich Keep Poor Out of Schools.

Waterloo, Ia., Jan. 22.—Uniformity of dress for all the pupils attending the public schools in Iowa is advocated by Mayor A. Doty, mayor of Waterloo, as a means of placing the children of the poor and the rich alike upon a common plane.

It is his belief the inability of the poorer classes to dress their children as attractively as the rich is driving many worthy boys and girls out of the high schools.

He would bar jewelry and have the color of all garments limited to neutral shades.

SCHOOL GIRL IS MADE DEPUTY.

Sycamore (Ill.) Sheriff Appoints Daughter to Fill Vacancy.

Sycamore, Ill., Jan. 22.—Miss Lola Hohn, daughter of Sheriff Daniel Hohn, was appointed deputy sheriff by her father upon resignation of the deputy, Dell Tichenor. Miss Hohn was obliged to give up school on account of her health and will do office work for her father. She is about 20 years of age.

Insane Mother Attacks Children.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Seized suddenly with a violent mania, Mrs. Rose Hartman, a widow and the sole support for six years of her family, attacked her six young children, inflicting bites and other injuries on them. The insane woman was overcome after a violent struggle with four policemen and removed to the detention hospital, where it was said that her condition was serious.

To Recall Hengelmüller.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The formation of the new Austrian cabinet is expected to lead to the early transfer of Ambassador Hengelmüller. Baron Hengelmüller's going is slated to take place within the next few weeks.

Papa Did the Best.

Odd evidence against an inattentive schoolboy was delivered to the parents of an urban the other day by his teacher. It seems that while the history class was in session the youth, instead of paying attention to his teacher, was looking up toward the ceiling with his mouth wide open yawning. The teacher did not disturb him until after he had drawn a sketch of him in that position. After the class was dismissed the teacher mailed the sketch to the parents, adding a caption which explained all. Next day the boy was unusually alert. —New York Sun.

THREE HELD IN BRIBERY CASE.

Prominent Pittsburghers Released Under Heavy Bond on Graft Charge.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 22.—Two bankers turned state's evidence in the graft cases on here and testified to the part they took in spending $25,000 of a bank's money to debauch members of the council.

At the close of the hearing before Aldermen McClasters, Frank F. McNichols, Max D. Lewis and Charles Stewart were held for court, each giving a bond of $10,000, except Lewis, who was held under $15,000 bond.

Nicola is a millionaire, business man, Lewis county delinquent tax collector, and Stewart is a former member of the finance committee of Pittsburgh.

LANG KNOCKED OUT IN EIGHTH.

Battling Nelson Lands Hard Blow Over His Heart.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 22.—Battling Nelson celebrated probably his last appearance in public prior to meeting Ad Wolgast in California next month by delivering a knock out to Eddie Lang, the Chicago lightweight, last night in the Memphis Athletic club's new arena. A body blow landing near the heart caused Lang to tumble in the eighth round after it seemed probable that he would stick to the end.

The bout was an eight round scheduled one and the latter is credited with betting considerable money that he would land his man before the finish.

Sugar Company to Pay $600,000.

New York, Jan. 22.—An agreement is understood to have been reached here between the National Sugar Company and the federal prosecutors by which the company will shortly refund $650,000 to the government as settlement in full of back customs due on importations scaled short of the actual weight.

Conspiracy to Rob Passengers.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The arrest of 14 employees of the Rome-Ancona railway followed the discovery of a vast conspiracy to rob passengers on Italian railways. The government has been paying large sums to travelers on state railways for lost baggage. The luggage, of course, had been stolen.

MUST STAND BY PAYNE BILL.

Speaker Cannon Makes Pronouncement to Congressional Committee.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Speaker Cannon read the riot act to the members of the Republican congressional committee last night and told them that in the coming congressional campaign that all Republicans must stand by the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill whether they liked it or not.

This pronouncement was brought out by Representative Hamilton's statement that there is much dissatisfaction throughout the middle west, and some of the Republicans who voted for the bill may have a hard time to be re-elected. "I am no prophet nor the son of a prophet," said Speaker Cannon, pounding the table, "but I venture this prophecy, that the members who do not stand by the legislation of the special session will meet defeat in their districts. Republicans have got to stand by the work of the Republican congress."

Make Yourself an Efficient Business Man

Start today striking out the things you can't do. Efficiency is within your power—training is all you need. And the best of training—practical, broad and business-like—is within your reach—Now. Our Courses are a clean-cut presentation of the best business methods—drawn by experienced men from actual practice, and handled by the best staff of instructors to be found anywhere.

We Have the Endorsement of This City and Vicinity

After six years of successful work our school is recognized today not as a leader but as the leading business school in Southern Wisconsin. During the present week a delegation of Ft. Atkinson citizens decided to investigate fully the merits of our school in anticipation of sending their sons and daughters to a good business school after having been deceived by another school. The result is that today we have almost two dozen students enrolled from the city of Ft. Atkinson alone, and more to follow. Remember that all business schools are not alike.

Don't Attend Schools Asking You to Sign Contracts

The Best Life Insurance Policy in the World

The Aetna 20 year endowment policy is the best because it is the only policy in the world that embodies a total disability clause. SUPPOSE YOU BECOME TOTALLY DISABLED from sickness or accident, or become blind, or if you lose both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot, then your premiums on this policy stop and the company pays you one twentieth of the policy each year until the full sum of the policy has been paid.

Would you be willing to pay $15.00 per year for 20 years, a total of $300.00 and at the end of that time be paid back $1,000.00 in cold cash together with your share of the earnings of the company? Insurance really cost you nothing on this endowment policy—but of course the Aetna has the use of your money, you get back more than you pay, you get insurance all the while you are paying in—its better than saving your money in the bank.

If you should die before the 20 years, 1000 dollars would be paid to the beneficiary.

If the policy is in force one year, it is incontestable EXCEPT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS.

You will share in the earnings of the company, which earnings may be applied on the premium, or they can be made to hasten the maturity of the contract.

You can borrow money of this policy as per Table "A". You can apply the loan as payment of premium. If two or more years full premiums have been paid, and there is no indebtedness on account of loans, the policy will be extended as temporary insurance for the full sum insured, for the full sum insured, including dividend additions, for the length of time shown in the table "A" under the column "Extended Insurance," and at the end of the 20 years the company will also pay in cash the amount in table "A" under the column "Pure Endowment."

If the policy should lapse for non-payment of premium, it can be re-insured at any time within five years by paying the amount due with interest, if satisfactory evidence of insurability is furnished to the company. This insurance costs you practically nothing; of course the Aetna has the use of your money, but you get back more than you have paid in at the end of twenty years, and you also get the insurance and the dividends and the benefits.

NO MAN CAN AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT INSURANCE

No company in the world is better than the Aetna, no company offers as good a policy. Think of the benefit it would be to wife and family or mother, if you should be called by death. Think of the great amount you would get all in one sum at the expiration of the policy, and then consider that it really costs you nothing except the interest on the money you would be saving. Read over the above carefully, see how you can borrow money on the policy, how it will carry itself, how you can be reinstated within five years, if you should lapse.

Insure Your Wife

and make the $1000.00 payable to your child, you will be saving just that much money and all during the twenty years your wife is insured. Every rich man is insured heavily, every poor man needs it even more.

Now is the best time to consider this matter. Every day, every month you put it off you are getting older—your rate is getting higher and no one knows when it will be too late.

Insurance is of vital importance to every man and woman. It's a matter that should not be put off—you would do yourself the best service if you take up the matter today.

Write us to send you a sample policy so that you can read it over carefully, or if you prefer, we will call and explain the policy to you. Fill out the coupon right now.

Do not let this important matter go another day.

Continues to Saturday, Feb. 5, 1910

Try to ascertain where this is held when you stop to consider that the average reduced prices given by others at their Clearing Sales are not even then as low as we always do it easily, without a great amount of blow and bluster. Nor is it necessary for us, as is usually done to exaggerate the former selling prices. We have ever held in former years, and in order to do so we are going to give a wonderful discount on every purchase. The prices taken off are so much less than the average reduced sale prices. TIMELY ARTICLE ON

THE WHITE PLAGUE

Geneva, Illinois Physician Writes on What Can Be Done to Prevent Disease

The most certain method ever adopted for the cure of the "Great

White Plague" is through the diet

which can be taken at home and comes within the reach of the poor as well as the rich.

The modus operandi is to force the body to take on fat, a desideratum

long felt by the medical profession

but never before attained to.

During the last fifteen years I have prescribed this diet in hundreds of instances and where directions have been followed strictly it has raised the weight and increased the strength and vitality of the patient rapidly up to a normal condition, thus enabling nature to assert her sovereign right to be the dominating force in the body

and the germs causing consumption

have been overcome and the cure accomplished. Some have gained a pound a day and would gradually take on less until they would not increase in weight more.

The all important thing is to drink

large quantities of milk stripplings

(the very last of the milking). This seems so simple and easy that many have refused to follow directions and demanded medicines to cure them;

but there has not yet been discovered

any medicine that is a specific for consumption.

To get best results a healthy cow

should be selected, one that does not cough and one that gives very rich

milk. A Jersey cow is preferable.

The milk should always be tested to be sure that there is a large percent of cream in it.

The last quart should be milked in to a separate dish which rests in a larger vessel containing warm water

just sufficient to prevent the strip-pings from cooling below blood-heat.

The cow should be thoroughly cleaned to prevent any dirt getting into the milk so the patient can blow back the froth and drink at once without straining as this cools it too much.

Begin by drinking nearly a pint in the morning and the same at night and increase the quantity gradually

so that in ten or fifteen days a full quart will be taken twice a day. It should be taken immediately after milking before it has had time to cool

any. All should be taken that can be without too much discomfort and then rest two or three minutes and drink

more and rest again and so on until a full quart has been taken on each side it can be conveniently. In about fifteen minutes the patient should eat at the table such articles of food as are known to agree with the stomach.

At noon eat as usual.

When the stripplings are not allowed to cool below blood heat and taken immediately after it is milked a full quart will be transformed into the circulation in a remarkably short time.

I never have seen a case but could take the stripplings without any discomfort worth mentioning when above

directions were followed strictly, although some have declared they could not take stripplings; but, when they delayed taking for half an hour

and the milk had cooled ten degrees

I have seen half a pint make them

very sick. The great secret of success with it is in taking it immediately after milking and not allowing it to cool below blood-heat, taking a full quart morning and evening and having milk that is very rich.

The following is a typical case.

Mrs. A. B. was suddenly startled to find her weight was forty pounds below normal. She was coughing terribly and soon had a very profuse hemorrhage from the lungs that came near taking her life. I at once began the use of the milk stripplings for hemorrhage was stopped and in a few days, about ten or fifteen, she had gained nearly a pound a day and go around the house. She gained quite rapidly and as her weight and strength increased her cough decreased. When she had gained thirty pounds in about three months her cough had left her.

She continued the same diet for six or eight weeks longer and she gained ten pounds more and then would not take on more flesh. She was then as well as she ever had been

and continued well after the stripplings were discontinued.

She took no medicine after the hemorrhage was stopped excepting a little opium and some other digestives to aid digestion, and a simple cough remedy to ease the cough; but tar, lobelia, opium, tartar emetic and such medicines as disturb the stomach and interfere with digestion were carefully avoided.

It is easy for those on a farm to carry out this method, and on several occasions parties who lived in the city purchased a suitable cow and after complete recovery in every instance, they sold the cow for nearly as much as was paid for her.

I do not remember any case that followed the directions strictly that was not cured, but several persisted

in declaring they could not take it until so much valuable time was wasted that they lost their lives by it.

I have found the same diet when above directions were carried out carefully, equally successful in increasing the weight and strength of those run down and debilitated from other causes.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

ALL the mottoes a newly wed couple can adopt, "Live and let live" seems to me about the best.

When a marriage takes place two people come together who have been brought up in entirely different surroundings and under different conditions.

That means that it is inevitable that they should have different habits and different ideas.

Furthermore, since despite their promises to be one they really are two individuals and two individuals of opposite sexes, it is also inevitable that they should each have certain little eccentricities.

Now, if either sets out to make the other conform to his ideas and give up all the habits and eccentricities that differ from his, there is either a lost individuality or trouble ahead to be reckoned with.

I heard a young bride fretting the other day because her husband would not give up smoking.

"He knows I don't like it," she declared, "and it does seem to me as if he ought to give it up. No, he doesn't seem to suffer from it at all, but it doesn't seem to me like a good habit. Does the smoke make me sick? Dear me, no, I don't really mind it at all. It is just that I can't see any need of it. My brothers and my father never smoke and I don't see why my husband should."

It's an attitude like that which plants the seeds of divorce.

If a woman objects to a man's smoking because she thinks it hurts him or because the smell of smoke makes her ill I can understand her position.

But the woman who objects just because it is a habit different from what she is used to, because it is a habit she is not in sympathy with and cannot share—well, I wouldn't very much blame the man who said of her:—

"A woman is only a woman but a good cigar is a smoke."

If that bride should apply the motto, "Live and let live," I fancy she would find that wedded life went much more smoothly.

I know another woman who frets because her husband will not wear the same kind of underwear that she does, and another who protests almost every morning because her husband eats his fruit at the end instead of the beginning of his breakfast, and a man who is unhappy because his wife goes to the Presbyterian while he goes to the Orthodox church, and another who is deeply disturbed because his wife believes in woman's suffrage while he does not.

I think they are all perfectly foolish.

All these differences are so tremendously unimportant.

Doubtless a husband will change a habit or give up an eccentricity for a wife he loves, and vice versa, but why should they be asked to?

As long as habits do not hopelessly collide and eccentricities are not really objectionable, why shouldn't they both "live and let live?"

The best governed countries, they say, are those which have the fewest laws.

And it seems to me that the most harmonious wedded life must be that in which the parties place the fewest possible restrictions on each other.

Ruth Cameron

IS WOMAN WOMAN'S WORST ENEMY?

By MARY RUSSELL

The reproach has so often been cast at us that we rather accept it as a truth—that the worst enemy to womanhood is found in the ranks of her own sex. So recent has been the change that we are hardly prepared to see that it has been wrought. We hardly stop to analyze what has made the change when we do think.

Time was when women were the goddess of the world; at least men told them they were, and they had not yet come to the place where it was considered "feminine" to contradict a man.

Women were tolerant of any departure from the old standards of morality. They even deny themselves their rights as citizens of the world because of certain little fine distinctions they make between what a man should do and what a woman should do. Some there are who still insist, with eyes blinded to conditions, that woman should stay in her proper sphere—the home, when half the time the only home she knows is the one provided by her earnings.

In all great crises of political and domestic affairs women have been the hardest to turn from accustomed ways. What, then, has wrought this change, which has made of women—the naturally weaker and more timid sex—a creature so independent, so strong in her knowledge of what is her right that she dares anything for the cause she has championed?

Fundamentally it is due to education. "The brain of man and woman may differ in weight; may differ in certain convolutions; may be in one case active along certain lines and along another may move sluggishly, but when the question of right enters in, the woman has nearly always been on the better side. We talk of the brotherhood of man, and while it is applied without any limitation of sex, the idea of masculinity invariably enters in so that now we are beginning to hear a new slogan—the sisterhood of women."

The recent strike of the shirtwaist makers in New York City has made a marked stride forward toward this ideal condition. Never before has the woman of education and wealth taken such a strong and decided stand in behalf of her weaker sister. There was never a more inspiring epic written than the story of these Vassar girls standing shoulder to shoulder with the over-worked slave of the sweatshop. The appeal for money has been responded to generously. Women and men have contributed. But the human sisterhood that has made these educated, refined women take up the daily round and by their words and acts so stimulate the uneducated, feeble, untrained and uneducated little sisters of the poor—that is the light that makes a woman's heart swell with pride and makes her glad as never before that she was born a woman.

THE SECRET OUT.

"What made my lovely complexion? I do not like to tell, for it was medicine, but I need a woman ever look. It was a family medicine that did it. This is a pleasant herb tea which acts favorably on the stomach and bowels, purifying the blood and clearing the skin like magic. It cures headache and backache. Druggists and dealers sell it 25c."

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor.

Seeks cure for insomnia in America—Mrs. T. P. O'Connor.

Mrs. "Tay Pay" O'Connor, the American wife of the editor and Irish Nationalist herself an editor playwright, actress, promoter of Irish industries and a suffragette, arrived on the Minnehaha this week to find rest in quiet old New York. Mrs. O'Connor is troubled with insomnia. She thinks New York is such a very, very quiet city that here, within the peaceful airy surroundings of the Hotel Algonquin, she will find repose. After she finds herself conquering her insomnia here she will remain some time. If not she will return directly to England.

Daily Thought.
"There is not an hour of youth but is trembling with death, not a moment of which once past the appointed work can ever be done again or the neglected blow struck on the cold iron."—Ruskin.

Not the Place for Brains.
A western woman holds that large feet are evidence of great brains. May be, but it's no place to carry them. New York Herald.

great many women know how to make themselves attractive, but they often fail to do the little things necessary to look their best. Our Hair Work, Shampooing and Scalp treatments are carefully and skillfully done.

Bread Bakers:

We're not addressing the professional bakers. Outside of the Colvin's Bakery they don't interest us.

We mean women who bake at home under the impression that they are saving money or getting better bread.

There are many reasons why we know these women are laboring under a delusion.

In the first place, they can't possibly use the same care we do in selecting and preparing the ingredients for MALT BREAD.

We are cranks on quality. Every man who has flour, milk, butter, hard to sell knows that.

They all know it is not a low price they must bring us, but a high quality.

We have a miniature flour mill right on our premises where every bit of flour is thoroughly sifted and tested.

In the second place, we have every facility for baking a scientifically perfect loaf. And our bakery is as clean as a pin.

It is the only bakery in town that welcomes visitors at all times. It is wide open so far as the public is concerned.

GOLDEN LOAF MALT BREAD is the result of years of striving for an ideal family loaf. Our crowning achievement is

THE WRAPPED LOAF enclosed in a sanitary, air-tight, germ-proof package which preserves its rich flavor and sweet taste, and protects it against all evil contact till it reaches your table.

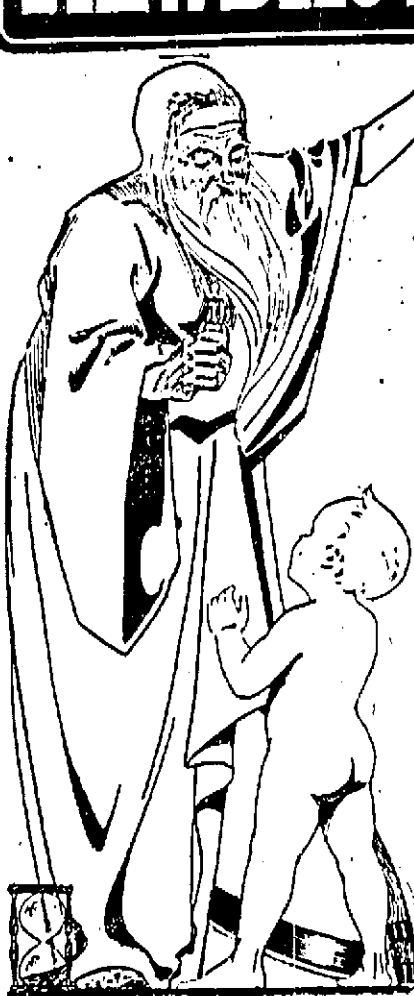

HOME BAKERS—'Tis folly to try to compete with perfection.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Its use becomes a habit, easily acquired and one of the best

The young are as liable to dandruff as their elders. Accustom your child to the use of Newbro's Herpicide and you will never have a bald headed son nor a daughter wearing false hair.

Herpicide will keep the hair and scalp sweet and clean, kills the dandruff germ and stops that terrible itching which causes the child to scratch and dig the head. The Herpicide habit is a habit of cleanliness.

A THICK CRUST OF DANDRUFF NOTHING WOULD REMOVE

"I used one bottle of Herpicide on my daughter's head and am charmed with the result. She always had a thick crust of dandruff which nothing would remove. I shampooed her head once a week with young soap and rubbed her scalp and hair with Herpicide. The crust has disappeared and what little dandruff remains will be destroyed by another bottle. I take pleasure in recommending Newbro's Herpicide to my friends as a great scalp remedy and hair grower. I will always use Herpicide."

Charlotte, S. C. Mrs. Frank T. Morgan, 162 Broad St. June 3, 1909.

The young readily form habits and the Herpicide habit is a most commendable one. It stands for personal cleanliness and assures a healthy, luxuriant growth of hair at the age when beautiful hair is most appreciated.

Don't take something just as good, demand THE ORIGINAL REMEDY. One Dollar Bottles Guaranteed.

THE GREAT ANNUAL

Commences Monday, Jan. 24, and

CLEARING SALES IN NAME are given by many merchants, but the majority of people of Janesville and vicinity wait for the greatest one. As low as our regular prices given throughout the entire year. Therefore when we make a Special Sale price it means a saving worth considering in order to make sale appear on paper what it is not in reality. This season we take pleasure in announcing to you that we intend to make this sale made in our store during this sale—and as we said before the great importance of this discount lies in the fact that our regular prices before the discount
